More than meets the eye

TV commercials tell us about Transformers, robots in disguise. In other words, Transformers offer "more than meets the eye."

Such is the case also with the town of Garrett and Garrett High School. At first glance our community appears to be a once-thriving railroad town which is currently in a state of decline. However, "there's more than meets the eye" in Garrett.

The Garrett community has a lot to offer any individual or family. A well-equipped and beautifully restored public library, well-maintained parks, tennis courts, swimming pool, and a nine-hole golf course are among the special facilities which make Garrett a good place to live.

Garrett's future looks good. City officials and business leaders are cooperating with an out-of-town developer who wants to build a shopping mall just west of the present downtown area.

As for Garrett High School, every time a student, an athletic squad, or an extra-curricular organization successfully achieves a goal, always there is "more than meets the eye."

For example, Coach Dennis Feagler and his varsity boys' basketball squad owe some of their success as NECC and sectional champions to the availability of game films videotaped throughout the season by Mr. Rick Kirkton, head football coach, and by other coaches and teachers.

Certainly, no team can function smoothly without the behind-the-scenes work of student managers, trainers, and assistant coaches. And, of course, the thing that makes all those hours of practice worthwhile is the support of both students and the community.

The same is true with musical and theatrical productions. Without the work of directors, students directors, and backstage crews and assistance from parents and other interested persons, actors and musicians would be unable to present well-polished performances.

Even in the classroom and in the area of academic and vocational achievement, every success story has a side which does not readily "meet the eye." Honor rolls are attained, scholarships are won, and jobs are obtained not only because of intelligence but also because students are conscientious about their studies and because parents, teachers, and friends are there with needed support.

Assisting behind the scenes, Mr. Rick Kirkton, head football coach, tapes the championship game of the girls' basketball sectional.

At Back-to-School Night, Principal Gaylord Toll welcomes parents.

Giving her congratulations to the 1985-86 Garrett boys' basketball sectional champions, Mayor Marcella Zerns addresses the student body.

High above the field, assistant coach Aaron Greve communicates valuable information to coaches on the sidelines.

It was a year of real, fictional heroes

It was the year when Reagan met Gorbachev and Rocky punched out the Soviet boxer, Drago, in the fourth Rocky movie.

It was the year of heroes. Some of them were fictional; some of them were real. Seven of them were American astronauts.

The worst tragedy that could be imagined in the space program happened January 28, 1986. The space shuttle Challenger blew up while millions of stunned Americans watched on TV. Seven crew members, including a teacher from Concord High School in Concord, New Hampshire, died in an instant.

President Reagan met with Soviet Leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev in the Geneva Summit. This was the first time the super power leaders had met in six years.

Here are the "bear" facts: a football team with a record of only one loss, a defense so strong that the opponent had no offense, a player as big as a refrigerator, and a punky QB. Where did these facts lead? They led to the first Chicago Bears' Super Bowl Championship.

The Chicago Bears spelled the word VICTORY all over the New England Patriots with a 46-10 margin in Super Bowl XX.

You didn't have to be a singer to make your song a hit. You could be an "Absolutely Mahvelous" comedian, a "Party All the Time" movie star, or a "Super Bowl Shuffling" football team. Billy Crystal, Eddie Murphy, and the Chicago Bears all entered the world of music.

You can take your jacket off to Phil Collins, who had hits like "Sussudio," "One More Night," and "Don't Lose My Number." He won two Grammy Awards, one for Album of the Year (No Jacket Required) and for best male pop vocal performance. Whitney Houston made a dramatic debut into the music world with such hits as "Saving All My Love" and "How Will I Know." She also won a Grammy for best female pop vocal performance.

After years of being the least watched network, NBC produced hits like "The Cosby Show," "Miami Vice," "Golden Girls," and "Family Ties" to rank itself near the top of the Nielsen ratings.

"Miami Vice" in its second season entered the Nielsen's top 15 most watched shows.

Sylvester Stallone had a busy year in the movies. He knocked out Drago in Rocky IV and shot everything that got in his way in Rambo First Blood Part II.

Michael J. Fox kept himself busy with films like Teen Wolf and Back to the Future.

Teenage movie-goers turned Back to the Future, Rocky IV, and Rambo First Blood Part II into box office smashes of the year.

Steven Spielberg produced his share of movies including Young Sherlock Holmes, The Goonies, Back to the Future, and The Color Purple, which was nominated for best picture by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Other movies that shot through the year were Pretty in Pink, Jewel of the Nile, Spies Like Us, Youngblood, and Quicksilver.

Pageant features 13 seniors

Twenty-fourth annual Miss Garrett pageant featured 13 seniors who charmed the audience with an Hawaiian dance for their opening number to "E Pele E" and "Tiny Bubbles" which they had practiced for eight weeks.

Contestants competed in bathing suit and evening gown competition and each presented a three to five minute talent performance.

While the final ballots were being counted, the ladies appeared on stage sitting beside a portrait of themselves as babies while "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" played in the background.

Bob Novy, master of ceremonies announced the winners.

Jennifer Slone, sponsored by Garrett Chamber of Commerce, won the evening gown award. Bathing suit top honors were awarded to Holly Hixson, who was sponsored by the Elks Club. Cindy Stephenson, who sang and danced to "If They Could See Me Now," won the talent award; she was sponsored by Garrett American Legion Auxiliary. Named first runner-up was Dixie Helmick, sponsored by Sigma Phi Gamma Sorority. Dixie performed a gymnastic routine to "Sussudio" as her talent. And contestant number five, Kathy Hixson, was crowned Miss Garrett 1985. Kathy, who sang "Raining on the Inside," was sponsored by the Garrett Rotary Club.

Remaining contestants were Lisa Wambsgness, sponsored by the Garrett Historical Society; Doreen Zolman, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Lynn Kobiela, Tri Kappa Sorority; Anne Brownell, Garrett Merchants; Brenda Kammerer, Garrett Lions Club; Traci Pence, Garrett American Legion; Pam Griffin, Psi Iota Xi Sorority; and Lynn Miller, Garrett Eagles.

Kathy and Dixie went on to compete in the DeKalb County Fair pageant where Dixie won the talent award and Kathy was named as first runner-up.

Juniors awarded best decorated car

Tracy Curtland and Kip Maggert were crowned homecoming queen and king during halftime of the Prairie Heights game. Crowning was done by the 1984 royal couple, Rob Knott and Tammy Wellhausen.

Class of 1987 won best decorated car honors for the third year. Renna Mathews, senior high student council treasurer, presented the plaque to her classmates.

Homecoming football fans, although disappointed in the outcome, got their money's worth in the 17-14 football battle between the Railroaders and Prairie Heights in which the Panthers scored the winning touchdown with only 54 seconds remaining.

Members of the royal court were seniors Paula McFann and Lance Dills; juniors Lori Kobiela, Todd Richmond, Kacy Shafer, and Mike Harrah; sophomores Tammy Bodey, Mark Claxton, Robyn Clauss, and Joel Haynes; freshmen Shelly Lantz, Jerry Egolf, Teresa Wiant, and Jeff Barry.

Homecoming ceremonies began with a parade of king and queen candidates in their decorated class cars through downtown Garrett to Memorial Field. Following the candidates were their support cars.

However, there was "more than meets the eye" when Tracy was crowned queen. As student council president she was among several council members who had spent hours planning and staging the event, and so elevation to royalty was a real delight for her. Tracy exclaimed, "I was really surprised."

Girls' FCA stages former OEA event

Girls' FCA became a firmly established organization by sponsoring the 1985 Semi-Formal, an annual event previously sponsored by OEA.

"Everyone really pitched in and helped Girls' FCA get established," said Miss Beth Bartkus, sponsor.

The theme for the Semi-Formal was "Endless Love." Girls' FCA decorated Saturday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Using pink and burgundy streamers, 288 balloons, carnations, and candles, they livened up Ober cafeteria for 66 couples who attended the dance.

Mr. Barrie Fleetwood took formal pictures of couples who purchased them.

Refreshments of punch, cookies, brownies and other goodies were served during the dance.

Music was by Brad Babbitt. Hit songs ranged from "Lovin' Every Minute of It" to "Tender Years."

Campus Life 'fun' attracts students

Where can teenagers go to have fun, be with friends and other peers, eat munchies, discuss topics that deal directly with teenage life, and just simply have a good time? The answer for many GHS students is Campus Life. Junior Melvin Montgomery explained why he goes to Campus Life. "For the fun of it; it takes my mind off certain stuff."

Campus Life is a Youth for Christ organization for high school students. Campus Life has been around nationally for approximately 50 years and in Garrett for seven years.

Mr. Eric Muzzillo is the current director of Garrett's Campus Life and has been for four years. "Eric is a nice person; he knows what is going on in life," said sophomore Tina Thomas.

Eric decides the topics to be discussed and plans activities for the Wednesday evening meetings in students' homes. "Eric is a great director; he discusses teen issues that all teenagers have to deal with," said senior Jim Mosley. Eric's associate, Mrs. Yvette Flanagan, added, "He is concerned about the kids; he is sincere."

Some of the topics discussed at the meetings include peer pressure, dating, sex, family, self-esteem, death, suicide, and other teen related subjects.

Campus Life scheduled many activities and trips throughout the year.

Twenty-six Garrett students spent spring vacation on the Florida Breakaway. Making the trip to the sunny south were seniors Kevin McBride, Kathy Hixson, Michael Maley, Marie Olsson, Mike Steward, Jan Harris, and Marcela Gil; juniors Mike Roehm, Lori Williams, Kim Porter, Mike Demske, Teresa Day, and Todd Ely; sophomores Jodi Porter, Anne Demske, Joe Carlin, Maeann Fields, Mike George, and Patty Emigh; freshmen Jamie Witherspoon, Julie Wolf, Tina Carlin, Michele Baker, Stephanie Rugman, and Jill Engel.

Other major Campus Life events were Great America, Roll-a-thon, Lock-in, Miss Campus Life contest, and Super Club.

Campus Life member Jodi Porter explained why she attends Campus Life. "Not only do you have a good time, but you're given the opportunity to develop the spiritual side of your life and to learn about various subjects that pertain to everyday living."

'Surfin' GHS' arrives homecoming night

Garrett Railroaders wiped out the Eastside Blazers by a 75-62 margin. But it was more than just victory night; it was homecoming night and "Surfin' GHS" was the theme for the basketball homecoming celebration.

Students and fans dressed in Hawaiian shirts with lei around their necks watched the 10 senior candidates walk onto the Paul Bateman gymnasium floor. Then came the "big moment" when over the PA system Mr. Bob Novy announced that Sean Ferry and Dixie Helmick were king and queen.

Selection of basketball homecoming court members was different than in past years. Teachers nominated several seniors from whom their classmates selected 10 candidates. Sean and Dixie were named king and queen in a vote of students in grades 9-12.

Student Council sponsor, Mr. Paul Johnston, explained, "I felt the faculty should have a major part in nominating the homecoming candidates." But Mr. Johnston didn't want the teachers to have full control of the outcome.

Student council officers spent two and a half hours preparing decorations and everything for homecoming night. Mr. Johnston said that everything was organized "very well" and that the half-time ceremony went "extremely well."

The men wore white tuxedos courtesy of the Wedding Place in Fort Wayne.

Other senior candidates included John Grogg, Lisa Wambsganss, Michelle Estes, Chris DePew, Doreen Zolman, Mark Stump, Cindy Stephenson, and Tom Firks.

Seniors pour out all their strength to win the tug-of-war against the juniors.

Juniors win Little 500 prize

Little 500 brought changes this year as the top three winners in each event received points. Juniors finished first with 72 points, followed by seniors with 48, freshmen with 32, and sophomores with 24. Student Council added $50 to the juniors' class treasury for their competitive efforts.

Under beautiful sky conditions GHS spectators cheered as junior Andy German crossed the finish line first in the Little 500 race.

"Kiss the Pig" contest was also won by another junior. Renna Matthews and a very loud, squealing piglet shared in this main attraction.

"Kiss the Pig" contest is conducted prior to and including the day of Little 500. Students and staff of GHS place odd change in canisters with the candidates' names on them. Money derived from "Kiss the Pig" contest helps defray the cost of Little 500.

Wolf, Steward reign at prom

The "Miami Vice" look was a sure sight at the Junior-Senior Prom May 24 as many escorts appeared in fashionable formal attire of white trousers and pastel jackets.

Juniors hosted an evening filled with great entertainment, provided by a band from Fort Wayne, "The Edge," and much excitement for seniors as many eager spectators awaited crowning of the king and queen.

Last year's king and queen, Kip Maggert and Paula McFann, crowned the new royal couple, Jennifer Wolf and Todd Steward, who danced to the prom theme song, "Tender Love," by Force MD. Other prom court members were Renna Matthews, Kristine Miller, Kacy Shafer, Jim Brown, Todd Warstler, and Rich Wisel.

Juniors staged the prom at the Candlelite Reception Hall near Huntertown. They decorated the hall in pink, black, and silver.

For the first time in several years a Grand March was conducted. Senior sponsors, Mr. Barrie Fleetwood and Mr. Denny Feagler, announced each couple's names while the couple walked along an aisle of parents and friends who were invited to come and watch the exciting event.

Kacy Shafer, president of the junior class, was hostess and welcomed everyone at the beginning of the prom. The prom lasted from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

During the Grand March, junior Lori Williams is escorted by senior Brian Getts.

Royal couple, Todd Steward and Jennifer Wolf, dance to the theme song, "Tender Love."

Getting refreshments for his date, junior Howard Julow fills a cup at the punch fountain.

On behalf of the Class of 1986, Cindy Stephenson and Matt Getts, Citizenship Award winners, pin the 102nd star on the GHS banner.

Mr. Larry Hixson, Rotary president, presents a Rotary scholarship to Jim Mosley at Awards Night.

Recipients of the American Youth Foundation "I Dare You" Awards, Kathy Hixson and Kevin McBride, are congratulated by Principal Gaylord Toll.

85 seniors receive diplomas June 1

One of Garrett High School's smallest classes in recent years graduated June 1, 1986, at 3 p.m. Eighty-five seniors received diplomas during commencement exercises in the Bateman gym.

Junior class president, Kacy Shafer, and vice president, Kim Neafus, began the ceremony by leading the processional as the GHS band, under the direction of Mr. Paul Marlow, played "Pomp and Circumstance."

Senior Lynn Kobiela gave the invocation and the welcome by Paula McFann, class president, followed.

Salutatorian of the class, Doreen Zolman, in her address characterized the graduation as both a beginning and an ending for her fellow classmates. She said that it was a beginning of a completely new way of life in which everyone would be "stepping out and facing new challenges," but also an ending—an ending of learning basic skills in high school.

The songs, "Never Let Go of Your Dream" and "You'll Never Walk Alone," were performed by the GHS choir under the direction of Mr. Gary Gerke.

The valedictory address was given by Carol Neuhaus. She said, "As we graduate here today, we will be leaving behind many friends and fond memories; ... also we will be leaving behind a part of ourselves, a part of our identity, and beginning a new life." She then compared Robert Frost's poem, "The Road Not Taken," to the lives of the graduating seniors. She stated, "We (in a sense) are travelers faced with the possibility of success at its (the road's) end."

Principal Gaylord N. Toll announced the class had fulfilled all the requirements needed for graduation and presented the class to Superintendent Kermit D. Weddell, who awarded diplomas.

Benediction by senior Lynn Miller was followed by the recessional. GHS band played "Fanfare and Recessional" as the graduates left the gymnasium with roses and diplomas in hand.

—Kathy Hixson

Staying in step during commencement practice, Mike Maley, Scot Blust, Matt Getts, Sean Ferry, Chris Shafer, Brad Steller, Phil Carboni, Tom Firks, Brian Getts and Tim Davis walk down the aisle to find their seats.

Giving her valedictory speech, Carol Neuhaus addresses her fellow classmates, parents, relatives, and friends.

Speaking of the seniors' new beginning, salutatorian Doreen Zolman challenges the class of 1986 to step out and face challenges.

Planning the junior-senior prom was the year's biggest task for junior class officers. Juniors conducted their annual magazine sale from October 7-21 to fund the prom. Juniors fell $625 short of their goal of $3,600. Profit from the magazine sales campaign totaled nearly $1,200.

Tammy Hedges was the top individual seller of magazines. Kacy Shafer's team was the highest selling team. They sold $939.59 worth of magazines which exceeded their goal of $900 per team.

Class officers booked the Candlite Reception Hall in Huntertown for the May 24 event.

Junior car scores third win

The award-winning junior class car awaits the homecoming ceremonies.

History was in the making in the autumns of 1983, '84, and '85 when the awards for the best decorated car were presented to the Class of '87. This is the only class in the history of Garrett's football homecomings to win best decorated car honors three years consecutively.

Many juniors spent lunch hours in the locker commons and evenings folding tissues into flowers.

Doug Weaver stated, "We had a lot of fun. I remember Stew (Todd Steward) trying to pick the flowers apart. He would get upset and throw them."

There is "more than meets the eye" when it comes to decorating the class of '87 car.

Sophs experience first date

What is the typical sophomore involved in?

Homework? ... Sports? ... Clubs?

These are just everyday aspects in the life of a sophomore. What really makes a sophomore feel like a "high schooler" is dating.

For most people in high school, the first date they experience is during their sophomore year. "I was kinda nervous, but it wore off," exclaimed Denise Bush.

"I knew the girl so I wasn't so nervous," replied Mark Claxton.

Different people prefer different qualities when choosing a date. "Attractiveness is the main thing, but there are other plusses such as intelligence, humor, and personality," replied Brian Vanderbosch.

"I kinda like tall people, but not too tall. I like them cute and strong," replied Sherry Sheetz.

Age 16 brings independence!

Sixteen is the magic age of youth. It is the age most sophomores experience the historic trip to the License Bureau.

Once the driver's license has been acquired, the fun begins and a great feeling of independence takes hold. "Driving to school instead of riding the bus is a privilege when you have your license," said sophomore Joel Haynes.

"You have freedom with your license," said Sally Hile independently.

Freshmen can't wait to drive

Fifteen, the memorable age of most freshmen. The age of high school, dances, and most of all the age of driver's education. Once the driver's permit has been acquired, the fun begins and a great feeling of maturity sets in.

"Even though I'm taking driver's education, I won't be able to drive because my brother can't," stated Tina Carlin, a freshman at Garrett High School.

Michelle Anderson, another freshman, replied, "I can hardly wait to receive my permit because my parents said I could drive our car any time I wanted to."

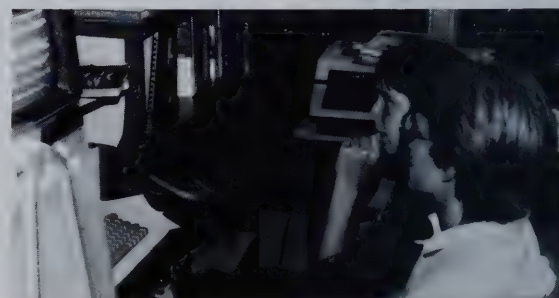

Freshman Jill Engel remarked, "As soon as I get my driver's license, my dad is giving me a 1984 silver Camaro."

Another freshman, Chip Gunion replied, "I think driving is an exciting, fun, and challenging experience."

Junior high students detained in cafeteria for major foul-up

Friday the 13th (December, 1985) was in fact a day of bad luck for Garrett Junior High School students.

That was the day these students attended a convocation in the gymnasium. After Principal Gaylord Toll asked the students to stay off the gym floor when exiting, more than half of the seventh and eighth graders left by means of the gym floor.

In explaining the punishment he chose, Mr. Toll stated, "I put them in the cafeteria every day until five after twelve for eight days to earn the privilege of being out in the building again."

This was the first time Mr. Toll ever punished the entire junior high. "We were also concerned at the time with the noise at their lockers (between classes). What we really wanted was for the kids to show more maturity, which they did," he explained.

7th graders like new scene

In foods rotation class, Heidi Groninger and Sherri Sweet mix dough for doughnuts.

All seventh graders share an excitement about entering the high school building.

"The most exciting thing so far is being on the High Honor Roll," replied Melanie Burlage.

When asked what she like most about becoming a seventh grader, Candi Green replied, "You get to be with your friends and have a great time."

Along with all the excitement comes frustrating experiences with lockers. "Everyone somehow got my combination and I used to get notes from people I didn't know," stated Nate Vermeulen.

Board studies auditorium, gym options

School board members gave the Garrett High School Drama, Music, and Athletic Departments hope this year with their discussions about building a new auditorium and auxiliary gym and authorization of a study by architects.

Mr. Jerry Weller served his first term as school board president, board member Mrs. Mary Lee Freeze resigned, and Mr. Clayton Teixeira was named as her replacement.

School board interviewed candidates for the J.E. Ober Elementary principal position after Mr. Eugene Yarde retired following 26 years with the Garrett-Keyser-

Butler Schools, 15 years as an administrator and 11 as a teacher.

Improvement projects approved by the board included installing an exhaust system in the auto mechanics shop.

Other building improvements approved were roofing of both the high school and elementary buildings, and replacement of light fixtures in the high school cafeteria and Ober auditorium.

The board studied the feasibility of joining other area schools to build a vocational career center but turned down the opportunity.

Art students show mold-making skills

Advanced art class experienced a unique experiment this year. A plaster mold was made of junior David Converset's face. This spurred on several other students to attempt mold-making projects. Molds varied from arms to mugs. Some art students visited the Fort Wayne Art Museum to view the high school scholastic show as well as the permanent collection.

Mr. Mark Ober, art instructor and chairman of the Fine Arts Department, remarked, "The Fine Arts Department has many courses that can benefit the student in career choices as well as leisure time. How you spend your leisure time is considered by many to be the most important factor in living a happy, healthy, and successful life."

High school band competed in the Indiana State

School Music Association (ISSMA) concert band contest for the first time in recent years. Although the band received a Division 2 rating (with 1 being the highest out of 5), this competition marked a rise in the band program. This year also brought the reorganization of the band's flag corps, the Semaphore Guard. A semaphore is a railroad signal flag.

The band purchased a new drum set for $600 and a new set of quads (marching percussion) for $1,200. Both of these instruments were purchased by the Music Boosters.

Choir soloists Lynn Kobiela and Chris Grupp earned first place ratings in both district and state ISSMA contests. Limited Edition members under Mr. Gary Gerke's direction performed this year both as a jazz choir and as a swing choir.

The Science Department purchased new equipment for the physical science course offered this year for the first time. A GHS graduate, David Miller, who is commander of a U.S. Navy nuclear submarine, spoke to the physics class about nuclear physics.

Mr. Greve leaves at end of semester

Reshuffling of classes in the Language Arts Department occurred at the end of first semester when Mr. Aaron Greve resigned to enter the insurance business.

Mr. Greve's junior and senior English classes were assigned for second semester to Mr. Paul Johnston, whose social studies classes for the most part were then taught by Mr. Barrie Fleetwood, who previously had supervised the in-school suspension and vocationally disadvantaged programs. This switch in assignments also required other changes which involved classes taught by social studies teachers Mr. Rocky Pressler and Mr. Robert Novy.

Mr. Johnston reacted to his new teaching assignment by commenting, "I NEVER dreamed that it took so long to correct papers in the upper grade levels of English."

Two new units of study were introduced by Mrs. Beth Grogg to freshman and junior English classes. Freshmen completed several writing assignments and a library project as they investigated family histories. Juniors shared their favorite music in class as they looked at the poetic aspects of modern song lyrics.

Responsibility for the production of the Junior High Express was assumed jointly by the 7A and 8A English classes taught by Mrs. Meg Eastes and Mrs. Bonnie Miles. Each class published two issues of the junior high newspaper, using computerized word processing to set all the stories into type, creating original art work and hand-lettered headlines, and finally running off copies on the GHS copy machine.

Speaking about the value of studying a foreign language, Mr. Peter Blaettner, German teacher, said: "Learning a foreign language is an enriching experience. There is no better way to develop self-awareness and understanding of other people."

Spanish classes were involved in two enrichment projects this year. First period Spanish I students taught basic Spanish vocabulary to third grade classes in J.E. Ober School during a four-week period. Spanish II students made ABC books by illustrating each of the 27 letters in the Spanish alphabet.

Mr. Capin retires as math chairman

Satisfaction is what they like. Teachers of social studies, math, P.E., and health strive for the feeling of satisfaction as they teach students at Garrett High School the tools needed for a successful future.

"The satisfaction of helping young people mature mentally to life situations and the pleasure of watching some students surpass my own ability to succeed," is the way Mr. Richard Capin, Math Department head, stated it.

Mr. Capin, also chairman of the Physical Education and Health Department, retired at the end of the 1985-86 school year following 36 years as an educator and coach.

In discussing how social studies courses help students, Mr. Robert Novy said, "Students need to be aware of the world they live in—from city to county, county to state, state to nation, nation to continent, and continent to world. They must learn better to understand all civilizations and in particular their own."

To help students increase their knowledge in different fields of study several speakers were invited into classrooms. Among the many were career speakers from Ivy Tech and ITT. Mr. Ankenbrook from Fort Wayne's Development Center came to speak to psychology classes, and on Law Day attorneys Dan Brinkerhoff and C.C. Rhett spoke to all senior social studies classes. Judge Charles Quinn showed his slides and spoke about Kenya, Africa, to Mr. Novy's seventh grade social studies classes.

Mr. Rocky Pressler is chairman of the Social Studies Department.

Computer acquired for vo-ag program

Vocational programs at Garrett High School teach job entry skills; many of these classes prepare students for college or future training in specific areas.

Mr. Andy Giegold, vocational agriculture instructor and new chairman of the Vocational Department, explained that his greatest reward as a teacher is "the satisfaction of watching students excel in jobs or college after high school." He added, "Working with judging teams is particularly satisfying to me."

Significant additions to the Vocational Department in 1985-86 were installation of a much-needed exhaust system in the auto mechanics shop and purchase of an Apple IIe computer for the agriculture program. Purchased in part by FFA, the school corporation, and state funds, this computer is used to emphasize farm management techniques.

Among several guest speakers who made presentations to vocational classes were Mr. Elmer High and conservation officer Andy Runyon, who spoke respectively to the ag mechanics and conservation classes.

An annual cooperative project of the Vocational Department—the Building Trades house—was under the direction of a new instructor, Mr. Richard Piatt.

The nearly 1,400-square foot ranch style home at 2009 Maple Lane was completed on schedule (except for landscaping) and was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. David Zehr.

Frequent spring rains prevented ag classes even from beginning their landscaping assignment at the Building Trades house. This part of the project will be completed after school resumes in the fall.

Drafting classes and home economics classes visited the Building Trades house, ag classes traveled to Knightstown for the Farm Progress Show, and auto mechanics students toured NBC Diesel School in Lima, Ohio.

Fun Days appeal to special students

Special Education Department enjoyed the year with events like Winter Fun Day at Mt. Wawasee and Notre Dame University Special Olympics. Mrs. Victoria Short, department head, commented about the department, "Students are now staying in school who just ten years ago would have been encouraged to drop out."

A crisis intervention team was a new service of the Guidance Department. Made up of teachers and counselors, this group's purpose is to help students deal with personal and emotional problems.

The Media Center acquired two Panasonic VCR's, an opaque projector, and a slide projector through a Chapter 2 government grant. Throughout the year students were free to use such programs as Bank Street Writer, Friendly Filer, Trackstars, and Print Shop on the computer housed in the library.

The Business Department purchased two new computers and printers which are used for word processing in advanced typing classes and computer accounting.

Two long-time business teachers, Miss Sarah Jean Eldridge and Mr. Lester McCartney, announced their retirement at the end of the school year.

Fall sports squads focus on 'learning'

"Learning" was the name of the game for both cross country and varsity football squads as the 1985 season began.

Six of 11 cross country runners were rookies, leading Coach Bob Novy to call his 2-12 season the result of a "learning season".

A milestone for Garrett cross country runners was their first appearance in the Heritage Conditioner in which they placed seventh of 11 squads. At the Lakeland Invitational coach Novy ran a junior varsity team whose members—freshmen Scott Lilly and Mike Taube, juniors Mark Knuckles and Todd Warstler, and senior Mike Maley—won a second place trophy.

Before the regular season cross country team members participated in a second run-a-thon to raise the balance of the cost of sweats which were purchased the previous season.

New head football coach, Mr. Rick Kirkton, prepared fans for a 3-7 record with this comment early in the season: "We have a long way to go."

However, after losing four straight games, the Railroaders bounced back to pound Central Noble and Eastside. Although Garrett lost to West Noble 27-14 in the regular season, they toppled the Chargers 27-18 in IHSAA's first football sectional. Coach Kirkton stated, "The future looks good. We're only going one way, and that's up!"

Coach Kirkton established several new football awards which were presented at the fall sports banquet. Major award winners were senior John Grogg, most valuable player; junior Mike Maurer, most improved player; and Erik Jacobs, best mental attitude.

10-15 season tells only part of story

Ten wins and 15 losses at first glance add up to a losing season, but in the case of the Railroader varsity volleyball program squad members believe they improved as a team during the last half of the season.

"In the beginning we were having a hard time getting it together, but toward the end we were great," remarked sophomore Deb Smurr. "We had a lot of talent," commented Tammy Bodey.

Sophomore Denise Bush said, "The team's hard work and dedication really paid off because when we were down and losing, we'd pep each other up and show the other team our stuff."

Receiving double honors was senior Marilyn Cook who was named Garrett's most valuable player and then went on to become a member of the NECC All-Conference squad. Marilyn also was a record-breaker with 131 kills. Others who broke records were junior Julie DePew and sophomore Tammy Bodey. Julie's name was entered into the GHS book of records with 262 good serves and 48 aces while Tammy appeared with 103 assists.

Several team members said the highlight of their season was the Whitko Invitational where they made a lot of new friends and had lots of fun. Denise Bush summed it up by saying, "The Whitko Invitational was a real learning experience!"

Sectional win caps season

Before Christmas break the 1985-86 basketball team had only 2-5 record. Steadily they improved their record to 14-10 and in the process became NECC and sectional champs. Head coach Dennis Feagler said the team never lacked confidence throughout the year.

Losing to DeKalb in regular season and beating them in the final game of the sectional are experiences the team will never forget. Comparing Garrett to DeKalb in sectional play, Coach Feagler stated, "We looked like a basketball team!"

Traveling to the regional was no "new" experience for seniors Greg Velpel, Gary Haynes, and Tim Vogel. Coach Feagler commented, "We went to regional to win!"

After defeating Woodlan in the opening regional game to avenge a regular season loss to the Warriors, the Railroaders lost to Northrop, ranked seventh in the state. However, Garrett gave the Bruins a first half that kept fans at Fort Wayne's Coliseum on the edge of their seats.

His teammates chose Greg Velpel to receive the Carson Culler Most Valuable Player Award at the annual winter sports banquet. Gary Haynes received the Pepsi-Cola Attitude and Sportsmanship Award.

Tim Vogel and Greg Velpel were named First Team All-Conference. Gary Haynes earned honorable mention and prestigious All-State Academic Team honorable mention honors.

Varsity wrestlers ended the season with a record of 8-11-2. The entire team should be back next year to improve its record since there were no seniors.

C.J. Stoltie was selected to the all-area team at 126 pounds. C.J. finished second in sectional, qualified for regional, and compiled an individual record of 17-11.

Kevin Campbell was awarded the Most Valuable Player Award at the Winter Sports Banquet. Kevin became the NECC champion and ended the season with an individual record of 22-8.

Julie DePew leads Lady Railroaders

Garrett girls' basketball team ended the season with a 11-10 record, but tied for second place in the NECC with a 7-2 record. Lady Railroaders lost to Prairie Heights in the final game of the NECC tournament.

Junior Julie DePew was named First Team All-Conference while senior Jan Harris and sophomore Tammy Bodey received honorable mention. The Carson Culler Most Valuable Player award was presented to senior Jan Harris.

Reserve squad compiled a 6-10 record. Junior Tammy Hedges led in total points and free throw shooting percentage, freshman Teresa Wiant led in assists and in steals, and freshman Reene Rowe was the rebound and field goal shooting percentage leader.

Baseball adversities form good nucleus

Varsity baseball players finished the season in second place in the NECC with a record of 7-2. The overall record of 14-16 was much improved from last year's disappointing 8-22.

Senior Greg Velpel set a school record of 12 home runs while batting .371, which earned him a berth on the NECC All-Conference team. Sophomore Butch Johnson became the first Railroader to hit .400 in a dozen years. Butch also set a school record with five pitching saves. He joined Greg as Garrett's representatives on the NECC first team.

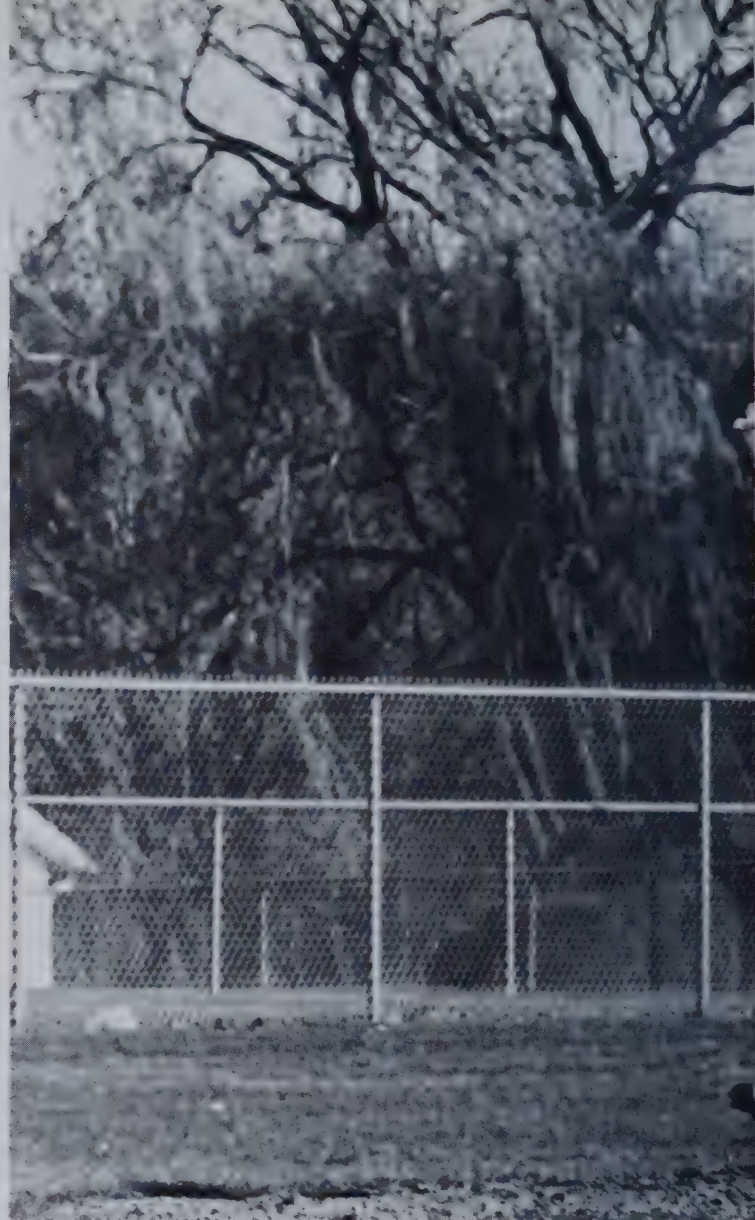

Senior Tim Vogel and junior Erik Jacobs earned honorable mention all-conference honors.

"We lost seven different starters due to injury during the year while providing valuable playing time for many younger players. This should provide a good nucleus for 1987," stated coach Steve Stocker.

"We played a very tough schedule and the (reserve) players did a good job even though they did not have a winning record," said coach Brian Herr. The reserve squad had a record of 5-7. Top reserve batting averages were recorded by Chad Wood, .400; Tim Delauder, .394; Chip Gunion, .370; and Sam Malcolm, .343.

Track teams please coaches

"They represented themselves well in both dual and relay meets", said new Coach Joe Mahnesmith of the varsity track team's 5-9 season. They finished 4-5 in the conference, which, according to Coach Mahnesmith, was good for a young team.

Junior Mike Maurer set a new discus record of 155'9" during a meet against East Noble at Garrett and also received the Most Valuable Player Award.

Coach Mahnesmith said, "Doug Weaver performed well in distance runs all season. He's one of the area's best in both one and two-mile runs."

Coach Mahnesmith also said that the freshmen on the team performed well and were successful against other teams as they steadily improved.

Sixteen of the 19 lettermen will return next season. Coach Mahnesmith said the biggest highlight of the 1986 season is that the future looks good.

"We're really pleased with how the girls worked this season. The majority of the runners lowered their times and those in field events improved also," said girls' varsity coach, Miss Cheryl Peters.

Coach Peters said that the most important victories were against Eastside and Prairie Heights which helped establish a 8-8 season record.

Freshman Heidi Knott broke a record in the 300m hurdles event with a time of 52.2.

Sophomore Tammy Bodey set new records in the 800m run and 1600m run at 2:28.48 and 5:24.1 respectively. Tammy was selected to be on the NECC All Conference team in the 1600m run and earned honorable mention in the 800m run. Varsity golfers took their lumps all season, finishing with a record of 0-20. Only against Leo did they come close to victory with a 195-194 score.

Junior Rex Wilcoxson was the most consistent player with the lowest 9-hole score of 39 and lowest season average of 45.2 shots for nine holes. His consistency earned Rex the squad's most valuable player award.

Sophomore Troy Gibson had the lowest 18-hole score of 85. Troy also had the second lowest season average of 46.9.

Todd Sattison, sophomore, earned All-Conference honorable mention. His best 18-hole score was 88 and his season average for nine holes was 47.5.

Other varsity letter winners and their 9-hole averages include Jon Langfeldt, 47.2, and Danny Weimer, 47.8.

Reserve letter winners Dave Talley, Clay Beber, Todd Ely, Joel Haynes, and Lance Baughman compiled a 3-6-1 season record.

Cheerleading squads begin full schedule during summer

Activities for Garrett High School's three cheerleading squads—varsity, reserve, and freshman—began in the summer of 1985 with their participating in Three Rivers Cheer Competition, winning first place in the Lagrange County Fair Cheer Competition, attending UCA Cheer Camp at the University of Kentucky, selling soft drinks, T-shirts, and pins at the Garrett Alumni Reunion, and appearing in the Garrett Days parade.

During the school year, in addition to urging their respective athletic teams on toward victory, cheerleaders sold personalized name tags to students, teachers, and others, conducted pep sessions and provided treats for GHS athletes, sponsored two dances, and made special "pillow cases" for the regional-bound Railroader boys' basketball squad.

A major purchase by the 1985-86 cheerleaders was new pom pons. Mrs. Deb Lepley continued as cheerleader sponsor.

In the Garrett Days parade, freshman cheerleader Michelle Anderson walks along Houston Street.

During the first game of the season, varsity cheerleaders lead Railroad fans at Whitko.

Music Department undergoes changes

Garrett's Music Department experienced several changes in 1985-86.

The high school band formed a jazz band which practiced every Thursday before school, they traveled to Indianapolis to watch the State Marching Band Contest, participated in the DeKalb County Band Festival, and under first-year director, Mr. Paul Marlow, conducted their first annual summer band camp.

Limited Edition swing choir attended the ISMAA vocal jazz contest for the first time, and participated in the Elmhurst Jazz Festival.

High School Chorus performed more difficult pieces in their winter and spring concerts, and their group increased in size greatly.

While Pep Band supported the Railroaders by playing spirited music during football and basketball games, Pep Club members attended games and backed GHS players all the way.

Pom Squad receives trophy at camp

Fourteen members of the Sidetracker Pom-Pon squad attended drill team camp at Indiana University, Bloomington. While at camp the girls individually learned routines and competed against many other pom squads from various cities and states. As a squad, the girls performed a routine entitled, "On the Loose" by Saga, which was choreographed and taught by senior captains Cindy Stephenson and Doreen Zolman. With this routine the squad earned a trophy for a nearly perfect performance.

The 1985-86 Railettes also had a busy year as they worked during volleyball, football, wrestling, and basketball seasons to provide fans with concessions. At the year's end, 11 girls were taken out to dinner at Peaches in the Fort Wayne Marriott Hotel by Athletic Director John Hutton.

In mid-October, Boys' FCA staged an overnighter for members in the Paul Batemen gym. They also sponsored a penny pitch for the Garrett Christmas Bureau. To recognize these young men, the Cedar Creek Church of the Brethren gave a dinner, which also honored Girls' FCA members.

Girls' FCA staged an overnighter at the YMCA in Auburn, but the highlight of this new organization's year was sponsoring the Semi-Formal.

Senior Sheila Rodman received $25 from Chamber of Commerce for submitting this top entry in the GHS art show.

Staff completes yearbook on schedule

Production of the 1986 Aeolian started on the right track and continued in the right direction with an on schedule finish. Streamlining the club section and redesigning other parts of the book made deadlines easier to meet. In addition, the 10-member publication crew met yearbook deadlines successfully because the Signal schedule was reduced from four to two issues in 1985-86. The staff concentrated its newspaper efforts on Christmas and senior editions of the Signal.

Seniors Kathy Hixson and Michael Maley and junior Chaney Boles attended the High School Journalism Institute in Bloomington for seven-day summer workshops. Kathy and Michael were in the editors' workshop while Chaney studied photography. Editor Michael Maley had most of the yearbook designed soon after the workshop.

Y-Teens sponsored the annual Morp, a dance in which traditions are reversed. The dance in the Ober Auditorium featured taped music by Pat Martin and Craig Claxton. Instant pictures of couples were taken in a wooden cut-out foreground painted as a bride and groom.

Cedar Creek Church of the Brethren invited Y-Teens to a dinner honoring them and members of Girls' and Boys' FCA.

Y-Teens, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Meg Eastes, was led by officers Doreen Zolman, president; Sheila Rodman, vice-president; Lisa Wambsganss, secretary; and Chris Shultz, treasurer.

Long-awaited art display cases arrived this year. The Art Club traveled to the Fort Wayne Art Museum for a field trip. To raise funds members sold screen printed "Sectional Champs" over a basketball on students' t-shirts. They also sold semi-curly fries during Little 500.

Student Council, NHS remain busy

Installation of new members started the year for National Honor Society. Twenty-one students were initiated in time to help with the sale of M&M's. With profits, NHS provided a teacher appreciation breakfast and a Head Start Christmas party. In the fall and again in the winter fund drives were conducted to aid the Community Care project. The year ended with election of new officers.

Student Council members began their activities in July by assisting in school tours at Alumni Reunion. Members of Student Council made a "Burn the Baron" dummy that turned to ashes in a bonfire the week prior to the Garrett-DeKalb game. Basketball and football homecomings were two of the main events sponsored by Student Council. This year the format of basketball was revised to an all-senior court.

During the month of November members delivered treats of appreciation to teachers. At Christmastime Student Council conducted a successful can food and toy drive to benefit the Garrett Christmas Bureau.

Candy sales provided the main earnings of the year. Profits made possible the continuation of Little 500 on May 9.

There is "more than meets the eye" in the activities that Student Council sponsors. Members spend lots of time and energy planning these events.

—Renna Matthews

Waiting for others to sign the NHS initiation book, newly-elected National Honor Society members remain composed and patient.

Speech Club members competed in area speech meets at Columbia City, South Side High School in Fort Wayne, and Lakeland High School in Lagrange. Two members, Joe Carlin and Ed Placencia, performed locally for the Lions Club. "We were small in numbers but worked very hard," stated Miss Linda Buttell, advisor.

Thespians' production of The Dutch Detective offered Garrett theater-goers a different type of comedy, which was both difficult and fun to perform.

Miss Buttell commented about the musical, No, No, Nanette: "Everyone seemed to think that it went over very well. Newcomers to theater did an excellent job in this show." Mr. Gary Gerke stated, "The musical was a lot of hard work but it also was a lot of fun."

Thespians stayed busy throughout the year as they publicized all theater productions and did much behind-the-scenes work. They also co-sponsored the Little 500 dance.

Food projects run by language clubs

Spanish Club began the year with 36 members. The club was led by Diane Sarrazine, president; Lynn Kobiela, vice-president; Carol Neuhaus, secretary; and Chaney Boles, treasurer.

Spanish Club members conducted their Christmas party in the foods room and their spring banquet at Bandido's in Fort Wayne.

Members of Spanish Club sold nachos at Little 500.

German Club kept busy with 21 active members. Deutsch Klub officers were Tom Firks, president; Brian Cook, sergeant-of-arms; Renna Matthews, vice-president; Traci Pence, secretary; and Teresa Smith, treasurer.

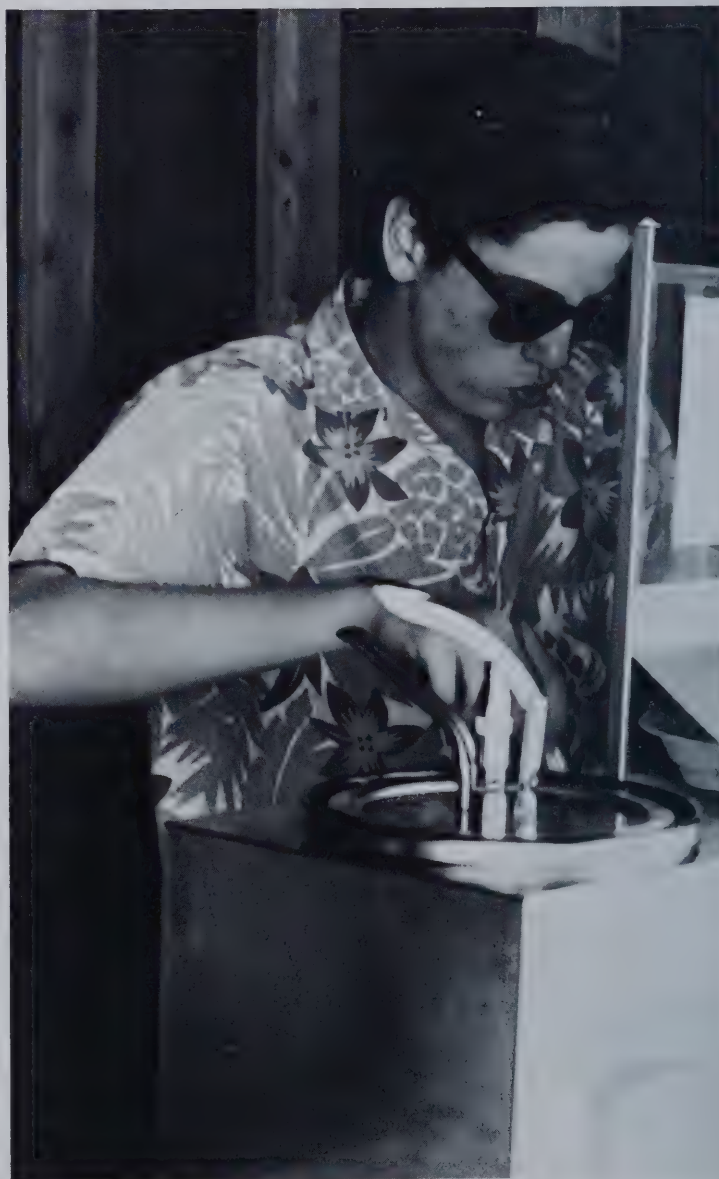

German Club members sold cookie pies and stationery.

They also sold bratwurst and kraut sandwiches at Little 500. Members traveled to Huntington for their spring banquet at Heidelberg.

SADD's 35 members had an eventful year. The club's officers were Doreen Zolman, president; Doug Ahr, vice-president; Tina Thomas, secretary; and Robin Neeley, treasurer.

SADD members sponsored an emotion-packed, yet informative, convocation on drinking and driving; they also tied red ribbons around their arms to show support against drug and alcohol abuse. At Little 500 members of SADD sold hot air balloons.

FFA teams earn numerous trophies

Future Farmers of America kept busy this year with Leadership Camp at Trafalgar, annual "Greenhand" initiation and banquet, and Farm Progress Show in Knightstown.

They sponsored an ice cream social, Christmas party, and ski trip to Swiss Valley near Jones, Michigan.

FFA members attended state convention at Purdue University in June and participated in several judging events throughout the year from which they brought back to GHS numerous trophies.

A highlight of the year was a second place rating in the State Livestock Judging Contest by FFA members Sam Malcolm, Beth Lemper, Tim Lemper, and Dan Holbrook.

Future Homemakers of America raised funds for their activities by selling two-year pocket planners and sponsoring a dance.

They cooked and served breakfast to the girls' basketball teams and made it possible for Headstart children to enjoy a Halloween party.

Toni Weller, Erin Murphy, and Mrs. Barbara Olin, FHA advisor, attended state convention at the Adams Mark Hotel in Indianapolis. The girls competed in proficiency contests with Toni placing second in cooking with children and Erin ranking third in story telling to children.

FHA sponsored a free trip for members to Cedar Point in early May. Several guests also joined in the fun at Cedar Point.

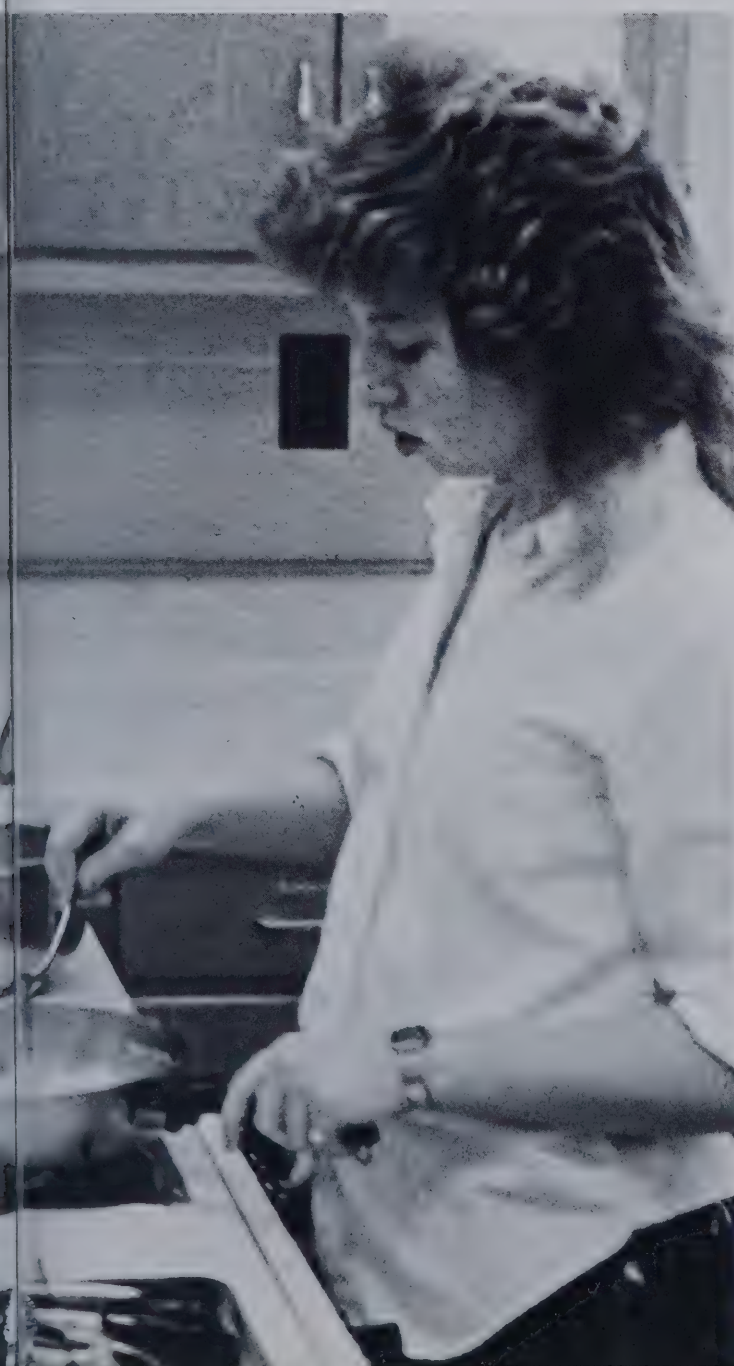

Office Education Association was led by Kim Relue, president; Lucky Bolen, vice president; and Amy Baker, secretary-treasurer. The group met every two weeks.

JH activities call for creative talents

Musically and journalistically inclined seventh and eighth graders found outlets for their creative talents in junior high bands, choir, and newspaper staff.

Junior high choirs performed under the direction of Mr. Gary Gerke at both Christmas and spring concerts.

Many members of JH choirs attended the Indiana State School Music Association contest and brought home numerous awards.

Junior high bands also presented two concerts, which took place along with the high school band concerts, under the direction of Mr. Paul Marlow.

Instrumental soloists and groups participated in the ISSMA contest, where a second place rating was awarded to the JH band in Division

Junior High Express responsibilities were shared by Mrs. Bonnie Miles's English 8A students and Mrs. Meg Easters's English 7A students. Four issues during the school year were sold to junior high and high students for "one thin dime."

'86 AJIVE gives help to community

Junior High Student Council was led by officers Kirby Shafer, president; Zak Shafer, vice-president; Lauri Conkle, secretary; and Thad Ford, treasurer. JH Council sponsored '86 AJIVE during which students cleaned up the town in early spring and JH Superstars which was staged in Bateman gym during Little 500. Their fund-raising Rock-a-thon took place in Garrett's Westside Park.

Junior National Honor Society, sponsored by Mrs. Aletha Bailey, inducted 19 new members during a ceremony in Ober cafeteria in April. Members sold pickles at Little 500 and posters to the community as fund-raisers.

"The Clock Struck Twelve", a Junior High Drama Club production, showcased 16 young actors and actresses. It was the story of three striving singers who must overcome obstacles in their struggle for fame. Miss Linda Buttell directed the play with the assistance of student director Jim Mosley.

Junior High Science Club's plans for each member to give a presentation on the topic of his/her choice did not materialize because of repeated cancellations of activity period. Eighth grader Eric Baker, however, was able to give a report on geology.

At Superstars '86, sponsor Mrs. Becky Darrow, and student council member Jenny Henkel keep events moving from the announcer's bench as other JH students watch their classmates compete.

Hooray! It's all done!

The 1986 Aeolian staff would like to acknowledge several people who helped us complete this yearbook. We would like to thank Mr. Barrie Fleetwood for the team pictures he provided for us and senior Mike Peters for the art work which appears on the title page. We would like to thank our advisor, Mrs. Bonnie Miles, for all her help and hard work and also our Herff Jones representative, Mr. Fred Henderson, for all of his creative ideas and helpful suggestions.

The 1986 Aeolian is the first yearbook in at least four years to be completed on time. In past years the Aeolian staff suffered from lack of help. This year we had a staff of eight members which helped tremendously in getting the book completed on time.

We hope everyone who reads and sees the 1986 Aeolian will know immediately that "There Is More Than Meets the Eye" here at Garrett High School.
